NINTH WEEK OF FROU FROU.

Revery evening until further notice, will be acted Mr. Augustin Daly's Significant Comedy of Contemporaneous Society, entitled FROU-FROU, with realistic senery by Roberts, original music by Stoppel, and characters by Mise Agnes Ethel, Mrs. Gilbert, Kate Newton, Amy Ames, Emily Lewis, Messrs. George Clarke, W. Davidge, James Lewis, Geo. Farker, S. F. De Vere, W. Beckman and others.

""Frou-Frou," at this particular moment is a welcome place in the form Mr. Daly has given it. Fashionable society of late years, under a great variety of corrupt influences, has become a hothed of luxury; and out of that feverials soil as grown an artificiality of life, character and manners—especially among women—which greatly needs rebuke and warning. That oeed may chance to be suppled, to some extent, by this significant drama, which is put forward under alturing circumstances. Our meaning will be more clearly apprehended, perhans, when we say that Frou-Frou, the heroine of this piece, typifies the butterily woman of society, and that the drama delineates her experience in the married state. The dramatist has presented her experience—the fruit of her own character reacting upon circumstances—in five pictures, at the drama, and each is strongly dramatic. This is the beauty of the play—that it tells its story by a series of situations, and not merely by talk. Those situations receive the ablest treatment at the bands of Mr. Dally's dramatic company, and the play has been put upon the stage with every needful seemic appliance and adornment.—New York Tribune.

THE TWELITH MATINEE

of FROU-FROU will be given on Saturday next, at two colock.
